Clouds Prevent Good View Of Total Eclipse

SEATTLE (AP) — Portland, Ore., was plunged into darkness at 8:13 a.m. PST today, but clouds prevented residents from a good view of the last total eclipse of the sun in North America this century.

Skies began to darken about 7:45 a.m., and complete darkness covered Portland, the largest city in the eclipse's path, by 8:13 a.m. It began to get light again at 8:16 a.m.

Residents had to rely on television pictures taken from planes flying above the thick cloud cover. ABC-TV carried the event live nationally.

East of the Cascades, broken clouds provided some view of the sun as the moon started its west-to-east march across the sky.

A mattress of clouds several thousand feet thick covered most of the area as the moon's shadow made its nationally televised landfall at Agate Beach, Ore., shortly after 8 a.m. (PST).

The skies were saturated with air traffic as observers went aloft to beat the clouds with a view from above.

Other scientists, amateur astronomers and the curious gathered on parking lots, porches, decks and grassy knolls, with their telescopes, homemade pinhole projectors and commercial viewers.

For many, the thick cloudcover turned the eclipse into the greatest cosmic disappointment since the Comet Kohoutek disappeared into the heavens five years ago without living up to its ballyhooed brilliance.

Repeated admonitions not to look at the sun during the period of the eclipse seemed academic as the grey skies drew a leaden sheet between the viewers and the solar spectacle.

Even though the eclipse was only about 70 percent in the Murray area, local residents were treated to sunny clear skies, near-perfect viewing conditions. Many persons were seen this morning looking at the eclipse indirectly by projecting the eclipse through a telescope onto a screen. Others utilized the "poor-man's version," a pin-hole in a piece of cardboard used to focus the phenomenon onto a second piece of cardboard.

The Federal Aviation Administration duty officer at Boeing Field in Seattle said "the airspace is saturated" with aircraft hoping to carry observers above the clouds for a view of the eclipse.

As a Pacific front pushed the clouds in from the coast, observers aloft were the only eclipse-chasers with a guaranteed chance to see what they came for.

Among groups chartering planes, the Seattle Science Center offered an unobstructed view plus a champagne brunch 35,000 feet above the Columbia River gorge. The ride on a chartered Alaska Airlines 727 jetliner cost $115 to $135 a person.

Today's eclipse was the first total eclipse visible in the United States in nearly nine years and another will not come around until 2017. A total solar eclipse occurs when the moon moves between the sun and Earth.

The 175-mile-wide moon shadow was due to hit the West Coast near Portland, Ore., at 8:13 a.m. PST and cross Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec at more than 3,000 mph. Along that path, the eclipse was to last from 45 seconds to a top of 2 minutes, 36 seconds — in Helena, Mont.

Other parts of North America had to settle for a partial eclipse — weather permitting.

Despite the overcast, thousands of travelers from around the country mobbed small towns of the Pacific Northwest and northern Great Plains in a replay of the solar mania that seems to grip humans when the moon blocks the view of the sun.

Several Murray State University students took a break between classes this morning to watch the eclipse. Dr. Bill Burnley, assistant professor of physics and computer science at MSU, set up a telescope in front of the Blackburn Science Bldg. and lectured on various ways of viewing the eclipse.

Countians Escape Brunt Of Storm

Calloway Countians escaped most of the harsh winter storm predicted for this area as only one inch of snow covered the ground Sunday night.

With the slight snowfall and the warmer temperatures this morning, almost all activities scheduled for today went on as usual. Murray City schools were in session, however, Calloway County schools were cancelled.

Sherwood Potts, county director of Kentucky Department of Transportation's highway maintenance barn, reported this morning that the department used 40 tons of salt on the highways last night. All major thoroughfares were clear today.

County road maintenance supervisor Rob Walston said that his crews worked this morning clearing county roads. Since the first of January, the county road department has spent 623 overtime hours operating and maintaining snow removal equipment.

City crews used three cinder trucks early today to lessen slick street conditions, according to Ray Clark, street superintendent.

Neither Murray Electric System nor West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation reported any power outages or lines downed by the storm.

Across the state, state police said early today that most highways were slick and hazardous. Interstates 64 and 75 in central and northern Kentucky were temporarily blocked several times this morning as cars skidded on the icy pavement.

The storm developed rapidly over the Gulf Coast states late Saturday, and on Sunday spread a combination of heavy snow, freezing rain and sleet over Arkansas, southeast Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. Kentucky, meanwhile, also received a mixed bag of precipitation — freezing rain, sleet, snow and even a few thunderstorms.

This combination of moisture began moving into western Kentucky during the morning hours Sunday, preceded by a rain system that brought a host of rivers and small streams to near flood stage.

Hydrologist Joe Pay with the weather service said a preliminary prediction calls for the Ohio River to crest at 2 1/2 feet above flood stage Wednesday morning. Pay said the river could go higher because of the latest snow and rainfall.

Hardest hit was southeastern Missouri, especially Cape Girardeau, where up to two feet of snow, swirled by 50 mph winds, stranded hundreds of motorists and knocked out electric power in what local residents called the worst storm in more than 60 years. Gov. Joseph Teasdale called out 250 National Guardsmen to patrol the area.

"It's unbelievable. We've never seen anything like it in this part of the state, ever," said Jim Gates, a Jackson, Mo., radio reporter.

"We've had more (snow) in the last 24 hours than we get in a year," said James Garstang, an air traffic control specialist at the Cape Girardeau airport.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME — This view through the living room window shows the damage done by the fire which destroyed the home of Larry Contri at 1504 Henry early Sunday morning. No one was at home at the time of the fire and when neighbors called the fire department around 3 a.m., the roof had already fallen in. Fire Chief Jackie Cooper said that high winds made the department struggle to save the neighboring houses. After an investigation this morning, fire inspector Phil Owens said that the fire apparently started in the kitchen and utility room area, however, no cause was determined for the blaze.

Local Students To Be Selected For Conference

Twenty local junior and senior high school students will be selected as representatives to the annual "Student Programs on Kentucky Enterprises" conference in Louisville April 21.

The conference is sponsored by the Rotary Clubs of Kentucky and the Murray chapter will select the local representatives based on both grade standing and career objectives.

Interested students of Murray and Calloway County high schools should submit their names to the counselor of their school who, in turn, will recommend candidates to the local Rotary Club. Transportation and conference fees will be provided for each student representative.

The program will feature individuals known throughout the nation for their accomplishments and ability to relate to high school youth, a spokesman said.

The conference offers young people an opportunity to obtain a greater understanding of and appreciation for the business enterprises of Kentucky, the spokesman added.

Graves Asks Candidates To Begin State FBI Probe

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Ralph Ed Graves is asking all other Democratic candidates for governor "to get the grand jury show on the road" in connection with a lengthy FBI investigation of state-related matters.

If a federal jury is not summoned at Lexington to dispose of the issue, Graves said, "I'm going to name names." He did not elaborate.

Graves, who quit the administration of Gov. Julian Carroll to make his race, spoke Saturday at a gubernatorial review sponsored by the Kentucky Young Democrats.

The only other major candidate on hand was Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky. Four other contenders sent representatives to speak for them.

Graves, who has limited individual contributions to his campaign to $25, also said the "people at Democratic headquarters say they've got the grand jury stopped...I hope not. We'd better get our dirty linen washed before May," when the primary will be held.

The reference was to published reports that matters ranging from state personal service contracts to the state purchases of trucks have been submitted to U.S. Attorney Pat Molloy at Lexington for possible grand jury action.

Molloy has asked the Justice Department for a special grand jury to deal with the topics. Such a jury could meet longer than usual. The possibility of an Internal Revenue Service role also has been discussed among federal officials.

Anti-administration candidates have charged that corruption exists in state government and have predicted indictments. However, no grand jury has been summoned yet, although Molloy has begun listing potential witnesses to be called.

Graves, whose sudden candidacy months ago appeared to surprise everyone, indicated he became disillusioned with the Carroll administration because of political favoritism even in routine matters.

"My only apology is that I misjudged (Carroll and) he let you and I down," Graves said.

He said the basic campaign issue is how candidates accept "the big money" and become beholden to such contributors.

"I have never known a governor who did not pay off his debts with public money," Graves said.

He contended no gubernatorial candidate will declare that he is not accepting large contributions, nor will any say where such funds originated. Under state law, campaign finance reports are not due until shortly before the May 29 primary.

Hubbard, another anti-administration candidate, indicated he is proud of the fact he is the only contestant publicly criticized by Carroll.

The governor said Friday that an earlier remark he made about the danger of electing a "political hack" was aimed at Hubbard, who he said is the "only true political hack in Kentucky politics."

Hubbard said Republican State Chairman Lee Nunn also has criticized only him, which the congressman said shows who the opposition fears most.

clear and cold

Clear and cold tonight. Lows in the low 20s. Sunny and a little warmer Tuesday. Highs in the low 40s.

Kentucky's extended weather outlook for Wednesday through Friday calls for partly cloudy skies Wednesday and a chance of rain Thursday and Friday.

Primed For Performance

The Jaycee Center beamed a very busy place Sunday afternoon as the first dress rehearsal for the upcoming anniversary Dinner Theatre performance of the Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre took place.

Many people helped hang and focus lights, the orchestra set up to rehearse, costumes and properties were being brought in by the boxful and the performers were sorting through racks and racks of clothes in order to begin the first dress rehearsal.

The scenic design committee was building and painting the set and when it was raised onto the stage, the center took on the aura of an elaborate theatre interior.

According to a spokesman, everyone in the production of the vaudeville revue, "You Still Ain't Seen Nothin' Yet," is primed and ready for opening night this Thursday, March 1.

The show runs Thursday, Friday and Saturday and doors open at 6 p.m. Dinner will be served from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. with curtain time approximately 8 p.m.

"It is a real treat for Murray as the theatre celebrates its second anniversary with this production," the spokesman said, "...wonderful food from Dakota Feed and Grain, valet parking, cigarette girls, photographers and dancing after the show."

For reservations call the theatre hot line, 759-1752. The price of the dinner, show, tax, tip and dancing is $9.50.

HEALTH

Perhaps prostate trouble

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 59-year-old man and am very active. There must be an obstruction of my urinary tract or my bladder or my kidneys aren't functioning properly. I drink a lot of fluids, consisting of water, milk, iced tea and a six-pack of beer once or twice a week, but very little coffee.

When I relieve myself I have to keep making trips to the bathroom and have to go immediately for I can't put it off. I have a hernia and have put the repair job off and am wondering if there may be pressure from the hernia that is affecting the bladder or kidneys. Is there any medicine that could relieve this condition? I don't recall having this problem when I was younger.

DEAR READER — Many people develop problems they didn't have earlier. Of course, you'll have to have an examination to find out exactly what is wrong. You could have a urinary tract infection. Another very likely possibility is that you have an enlarged prostate.

The prostate gland surrounds the urethra and can obstruct the outflow from the bladder. That's the main reason many men have to have a prostate operation. Your description of your difficulties isn't sufficiently detailed for me to have a very good idea if this is the problem or not.

A person with an enlarged prostate usually has trouble starting his stream and may have trouble stopping it. The stream is often small as opposed to the large easy flow of younger years.

If there is a lot of trouble in passing urine, the bladder may be overdistended with retained urine, often causing a person to urinate frequently. The overfilled bladder keeps signaling that it needs to be emptied, but the person never succeeds in emptying it because of the obstruction from the enlarged prostate gland.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-6, Prostate Gland, to give you a better idea of how this can affect you and what can be done about it. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now regarding your hernia, if you're talking about a hernia in the groin, the pressure from such a hernia, if there is any at all, isn't near the urethra or bladder area.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you tell me the benefits, if any, derived from taking alfalfa tablets? The man at the health food store said I should take them for hay fever and would not need antihistamines. I bought a bottle and the directions say take four tablets with each meal. They smell and taste so bad I can hardly get one down, much less four. Please let me know about these alfalfa tablets' benefits so I can continue to force them down or throw them away.

DEAR READER — The benefits from alfalfa tablets are for the person who sells them. Don't expect them to do anything for your health, much less prevent or cure hay fever.

These and a host of other highly advertised products are the modern equivalent of snake oil sold by a carnival barker at the traveling medical show. There are plenty of people who will listen to the claims because they want to believe some magic substance will cure all their problems. Life isn't that simple.

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

House plants can really be appreciated during the times when there is nothing but snow outside. We look out our windows on such a snowy scene, then look inside at our potted plants that are so green and fresh and find our faith renewed in the fact that there will be green things growing outside some day.

We feel that we have had more than our share of snow this winter, but when we read the papers and see how much more other parts of the country have had, we can be glad we live here.

So many of our folks have gone to Florida for the winter months, but somehow that does not attract me. I really love the changing of the seasons and after enduring the cold, the spring days are all the more enjoyable. For the miracle of Spring is truly a miracle and it is a joy to see the promise come into fulfillment.

I have heard the birds chirping throughout the woods this week. I wonder if they know something we don't. Perhaps they are endowed with the ability to sense warmer weather and know it will soon be nest building time.

Don't forget to save the lint from your electric dryer.

Local Agent Says...

Each Vitamin Has Particular Need

From the Desk Of Jean W. Clear
County Extension Agent
for Home Economics
Vitamin

One myth about "natural" vitamins is that they are better for your body than those made in a laboratory. But the fact is, the body can't tell whether that vitamin C came from a rose hip or a vitamin tablet.

Each vitamin has a particular molecular structure that remains the same whether it's synthetic, extracted from a plant or animal source, or consumed as part of a plant or animal. The body can't distinguish in any way between a vitamin from a plant or animal and the same vitamin from a laboratory.

Don't rely on vitamin supplements to maintain good health. Your body needs other essential nutrients and the bulk of real food.

The best way to get all these essentials is to eat a balanced diet.

Another fallacy of the so-called "natural" vitamins is that vitamin products sold as "natural" don't contain any synthetic ingredients. Some of the very synthetic ingredients people are trying to avoid are present in these products—often as binders in tablets and capsules.

Don't take a multi-vitamin everyday just to be sure you're getting enough vitamins. It's usually not necessary and the high potency supplements are dangerous if taken without the supervision of a doctor.

The idea that the higher the vitamin dosage, the better off you are, is misguided. Unless you have a special need—if you're recovering from an illness—your body doesn't need any more than the recommended daily allowance provided by a balanced diet, and the excess may even be harmful.

Excessive amounts of vitamin A, taken over long periods can increase pressure within the skull or cause growth retardation in children. Other symptoms of overdose are similar to those of deficiency: dry, cracked skin, headaches, and bone pain.

Too much vitamin D also has been known to retard mental and physical growth in children, as well as cause nausea, weakness, stiffness, constipation, hypertension, and even death.

Although the only proof of vitamin toxicity is with excesses of vitamin A and D, some research has indicated that large doses of vitamin C may contribute to kidney stones, severe diarrhea, and possible harm to diabetics.

Little Miss Pageant Planned On May 20

The fourth annual Kentucky Little Miss Pageant will be held Sunday, May 20, in the Lovett Auditorium, Murray State University. Pre-pageant activities will be scheduled throughout the day on Saturday, May 19.

The Omicron Alpha Chapter of Tau Phi Lambda sorority of the Woodmen of the World is sponsoring the pageant activities with Mrs. Judy Scruggs as chairman.

Applicants for the pageant must be five years of age by June 30, 1979. They must also be a resident of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Persons wishing further information concerning the pageant and application forms are asked to contact Mrs. Marilyn Herndon, 753-8072, or write Kentucky Little Miss Pageant, 1615 Loch Lomond Drive, Murray, Ky. 42071.

Bible Journaling Group Meets, Williams' Home

The Bible Journaling Group of the First Christian Church met on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m. in the home of Jo Clea Williams, 1512 Canterbury Drive.

This group is in its organizational stage at this point; therefore, the evening was spent discussing various ways in which the group can study together and proceed in its daily Bible Journaling in a manner that would be most meaningful to each member.

In the group discussion the Rev. Dr. David Ross explained the purpose of the group is for "each member to read, recycle, locate key words in the passages which are read daily and summarize by putting the meaning into one's own words." Each member will keep a written record of the daily scripture study in his or her Bible Journal.

The group will meet once monthly to discuss interpretations an exchange thoughts regarding the daily Bible study.

Mrs. Williams served refreshments to the following members present: Marge Hays, Leon Smith, Corrine

McNutt, Max Miller, John Pasco, Billie June Marvin, Bill Marvin, O. B. Boone, Rebecca Dublin, and Dr. Roos.

The first meeting of this group was held in January at the home of John Pasco. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p.m. in the home of Corrine McNutt.

Y.F.A.ETTES Hold Meeting At School

The Calloway County Y.F.A.ETTES met at the Murray Area Vocational School on Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m. for the regular monthly meeting with the president, Judy Cunningham, presiding.

Plans for the coming year were discussed, and comments on the past year were made by Mrs. Cunningham.

Announcements concerning upcoming events for the Y.F.A. and Y.F.A.ETTES were made.

Those present were Laura Paschall, Cathy Stockdale, Shirley Hughes, Sherla Adams, Melissa Starks, and Judy Cunningham.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Unhappy Hooker Hooked on Love

DEAR ABBY: I just lost the only man I ever loved. When I came home last evening I found a note from Jimmy saying, "Goodbye"—after we lived together for a year.

In his note he said that my job was changing me into a hard person, and he couldn't ask me to quit because he thought it was what I really wanted to do. (It's not true. I hate my work, but the money is too good to pass up.)

Abby, I am a prostitute. The money helped pay our bills. Jimmy's job didn't pay much, and we needed the bread.

I know there will never be another man in my life like Jimmy. He loved the real me—not just my body.

Should I quit my profession and go after him? I know he still loves me.

Please don't say where this letter is from. My father is a minister and my folks don't know what I do for a living.

WORKING GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Quit your job and go after him. Jesus forgave a woman in your profession. Could Jimmy do less?

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to SPARKLING, who feels that her engagement ring is "on loan," disturbed me. (The ring was purchased by her fiancé's mother and given to her with the understanding that in the event of a divorce, it would be returned.)

Abby, a marriage that begins by working out a possible divorce settlement doesn't sound like it has too much going for it. And returning Mama's ring—as you suggest—just might speed up a split.

The first year of marriage is hard enough without playing hot potato with an engagement ring.

I say SPARKLING should keep the ring. It, like her husband, now belongs to her—not Mama.

LONG ISLAND LAURIE

DEAR LAURIE: A marriage with the divorce settlement worked out in advance is sometimes preferable to one without, should the couple split. (And today, one in three do.) I still think since SPARKLING feels that her engagement ring is "on loan" she should return it and do without until her husband can buy her one.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from the woman who was disgusted with stupid TV commercials: She asked, "What ever happened to those wonderful free samples companies used to send out to acquaint people with their products?"

Well, I know what happened to several cases of free samples that should have been delivered but weren't. They were taken home and kept in the family.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: If you are absolutely sure of your facts, the person responsible for delivering those free samples should be reported.

DEAR ABBY: Do you happen to know what the Alcoholics Anonymous credo is? It starts, "Oh, God, grant me the ability to accept the things I cannot change..."

DEPRESSED IN DES PLAINES

DEAR DEPRESSED: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, Courage to change the things I can, And wisdom to know the difference."

Are your problems too heavy to handle alone? Let Abby help you. For a personal, unpublished reply, write: Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Waste not, want not, when it comes to whipped cream. If you don't use all of it, store, covered in the refrigerator, then re-whip with chilled beaters. The volume will be slightly less than the first time, but, in most cases, it will be as stiff as originally, after one or two days.

Central Office Members Speak, Southwest PTC

Three members of the Central Office of the Calloway County Board of Education were featured on the program at the meeting of the Southwest Calloway Elementary School Parent-Teacher Club held on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at the school.

Dr. Jack Rose, superintendent, spoke briefly on the new middle school, the policy on limiting contracts for non-resident pupils with the Murray Board, the possibility of moving kindergartens to the elementary schools, and cited the high quality of applicants for the principalship at Southwest.

Mrs. Joanna Adams, foods supervisor, discussed the food program. She noted the success of the "pay by day" and "optional serving line." Mrs. Adams said over 90 percent of the students at Southwest eat in the cafeteria.

Mrs. Joy Waldrop, psychometrist, touched on the Pre-School Screening, House Bill 92, and Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills, pointing out that Calloway County students were significantly higher than Kentucky and national norms.

Following the presentations was a question and answer period. Dinah Westerman, president, presided at the meeting.

DRAWING WORKSHOP — Dale Leys, left, Murray State University art instructor, directed the drawing workshop held Saturday, Feb. 17, at Murray High School for advanced and gifted art students. Students learned drawing techniques that can improve their work. Leys who attended the former Layton School of Art and the University of Wisconsin showed examples of drawings and slides of his own personal work and that of his university students. Shown, left to right, are Leys, Gary Morton, David Boyd, Debi Henry, Shannon Christopher and Missy Tibbs, models, Natalie Simpson, and Kevin Cole. Betty Scott, art instructor at Murray High School, was hostess for the workshop in cooperation with the gifted and talented program, according to Peggy Brown, program coordinator.

Tooth Decay—

More School Children Need Fluoride In Drinking Water

FRANKFORT, Ky. — About 100,000 pre-school children in Kentucky do not get enough fluoride from drinking water to prevent tooth decay, according to an official of the Department for Human Resources.

"Approximately 2.5 million Kentuckians live in communities with fluoridated public water supplies, and more than 40,000 students in rural schools receive fluoride through the department's school water fluoridation program," says Dr. James Corum, director of the Human Resources dental branch. "But a large number of pre-schoolers do not receive enough fluoride because their families have their own water supply or live in communities where the water supply is not yet fluoridated."

Mrs. Jack Wilcox Presents Program At Circle Meet

Mrs. Jack Wilcox presented the program on "Prayer Is A Venture Of Faith" at the meeting of the Faith Doran Circle of the First United Methodist Church Women held on Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 2 p.m. in the Senior Youth Room of the church.

The devotion was given by Mrs. J. T. Sammons who read her scripture from the fifth chapter of Corinthians and closed with prayer. Mrs. Carl Harrison, chairman, presided and opened the meeting with prayer.

A memorial service was led by Mrs. Leonard Vaughn for Mrs. Gladys Hale and Mrs. Bun Swann, former members. She read passages of scripture from Proverbs 33:10-31 and Ecclesiastes 3:1-12, and closed with a quotation from the play, "King Henry V" by Shakespeare.

During the social hour the hostesses—Mrs. Lula White, Mrs. Flora Ford, and Mrs. Julius Sharpe—served refreshments to the 18 members and one visitor present.

Elm Grove BW Holds Meet At Lee Home

Juanita Lee opened her home for the regular monthly meeting of the Baptist Women of the Elm Grove Baptist Church held on Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 10 a.m. with fifteen persons present.

A workshop was held in the afternoon for mission projects.

Lavine Carter directed the program on "My Life, My Witness" as the theme. Those assisting Mrs. Carter were June Crider, Juanita Lee, Mildred Cook, Lucille Kimbro, Bobbie Burken, Electa Fulkerson, Tennessee Outland, Norma Wilkins, and Letha Cossey. Prayer was led by Zella Futrell.

June Crider gave the devotion and read scripture from I Thessalonians 4:1-12. Mrs. Crider led in prayer for the missionaries having birthdays on that day.

Presiding at the meeting was Bobbie Burken, president, with the minutes being read by Juanita Lee, and the financial report given by Letha Cossey. Plans were made for the Week of Prayer for Home Missions March 4-11.

Prayer and blessing of the food was given by Norma Wilkins at the noon hour.

Others attending, not previously mentioned, were Jimmie Lee Carmichael, Floy Caldwell, Eunice Shekell, and Mable Blalock.

CRAIG THURMAN and Mary Lafser provided a demonstration of disco dancing for entertainment at the annual Sweetheart Banquet held by the Kappa Department of the Murray Woman's Club on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 6:30 p.m. A potluck meal was served. The tables were covered with red and white checked cloths. Mrs. Rex Galloway is Kappa chairman with Mrs. Tommy Starks as vice-chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Tucker as secretary, and Mrs. David Coop as treasurer. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Martin Mattis, Mrs. Chuck Wynn, Mrs. Allen Moffitt, Mrs. E. W. Dennison, and Mrs. Kenneth Tucker.

'Kentucky Day' Held, Florida

The annual "Kentucky Day" for area residents vacationing in Florida, was held in late January in Englewood, Florida.

The first such gathering was held in 1971, at which time there were 38 persons present. This year the group numbered 71.

A covered dish dinner was held at the Englewood V. F. W. Lodge, with the blessing by James B. Pryor, of Mayfield.

Plans are being made for next year's reunion, and any Kentuckians who plan to be in Florida next winter are asked to mark the last Wednesday in January as the date.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adams, 1060 McCall Road, Englewood, Florida, 33533.

Attending this year were: Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Oury Acree, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alderdice, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Townsend;

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Lynnwood Morris, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bucy, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chinn, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Pryor;

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Wal Seay, Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Lowery, Mr. and Mrs. Davy Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Butterworth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lane;

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Swann, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adams, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Paschall, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Byrd;

Mr. and Mrs. James Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McWaters, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Heathcott;

Jackie Phillips, Bennett Phillips, Wayne Barger, Mrs. Pryor Sutherland, Mrs. James H. Adams, Mrs. Helen Speight, W. C. Hicks, Harold Denham, Eula Mae Taylor, Hays Hopwood, Jack Anderson and Maxwell McDade.

Need Line Director Guest Speaker At Hampton Meet

Mrs. Euph Ward, executive director of the Need Line Service, spoke at the February meeting of the Olga Hampton Group of the Baptist Women of the Sinking Spring Baptist Church.

The Need Line director gave an interesting and informative discussion on the Need Line services. An offering was given to Mrs. Ward for her Need Line work. Faye Orr was in charge of the program. Mary Belle Jones led the week of prayer calendar with each member reading names of missionaries having birthdays on that day. Prayer for the missionaries was led by Mary Kathryn Starks. Maxine Nance conducted the business meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mary Belle Jones and Linda Cooper. Others present were Hattie Lee Galloway, Vernel Key, Mildred Crawford, Ruth Warren, and Dorothy Brandon.

Meat Shortage Not Near

In a meat news update, a University of Kentucky consumer economist likened predictions of a severe meat shortage and soaring prices this year to Mark Twain's statement on reading his own obituary in the newspaper. Twain said, "Reports of my death are greatly exaggerated."

Larry Jones, Extension specialist in the UK College of Agriculture, said that consumers and others asking about the presumed meat shortage can be assured that it is not happening.

Anticipated per capita supplies of beef this year are 113 lbs. on a carcass weight basis — the same amount available in 1971 and only four pounds less than in 1974 when beef production was at a high point in the cattle cycle, according to Jones. "That's hardly a shortage," he added.

Will hamburger prices go up 50 cents a pound, as some are saying? Jones doesn't think so, pointing out that most economists agree the price rise won't be that much.

"There definitely will be strong prices for beef, pork and lamb during the year but no shortages to the extent some are talking about," says Jones.

The economists points out that reports indicate poultry production may be increased 10 percent or more as producers respond to the market situation. He adds that there also will be a slightly higher output of pork, based on USDA reports of producer intentions.

Aglow Fellowship Speakers To Be Mr., Mrs. Jaco

The Gilbertsville Chapter of Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet Tuesday, February 27, at Ken Bar Inn at Gilbertsville.

A breakfast will be served at 9:30 a.m., with the meeting to follow at 10:30.

Speakers for this month's meeting will be a husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Jaco, from Briensburg, Kentucky.

Mr. Jaco has a welding and machine shop in Briensburg. He and Mrs. Jaco will share how Jesus came into their lives in 1969.

They are members of the Christian Fellowship Church in Briensburg, and are parents of three children.

For further information regarding the meeting, call 395-4937, in Calvert City, or 443-6308, Paducah.

Serving Children

What Others Are Doing • How You Can Help

NEWS OF EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

If you have an exceptional child, handicapped or gifted, or know someone who has, you may be happy to know that there are more and more things being done to help them.

The statistics are startling: There are nearly nine million exceptional children in this country, of whom seven million or more are handicapped. More than half of these youngsters, both handicapped and gifted, are not served by any special educational program, and one million are denied any education at all.

The hopeful news is that there are people—65,000 of them belonging to an organization called The Council for Exceptional Children (CEC)—who believe these children deserve an opportunity. And they are making it happen.

These concerned citizens—professionals, parents, college students and others—are advancing the rights of exceptional children through action at all levels of government and through local chapter and state federation activities. Their aim is to get each youngster a free and appropriate education.

CEC helps its members serve children better. Through unit activities, publications, institutes and others means, CEC members grow in knowledge and understanding. Members become more effective persons acting in behalf of exceptional children.

The Council also has 12 divisions through which its members can become involved with their special area(s) of interest such as mental retardation, behavioral disorders, learning disabilities, giftedness and other phases of special education and types of exceptionalities.

To find out more about what's being done and what you can do for gifted and/or handicapped children, write to: Unit 9, The Council for Exceptional Children, 1920 Association Drive, Reston, Virginia 22091.

Social Security — Whose Burden?

The first time around, in 1935, Americans hardly felt the initial bite that Social Security taxes took out of their paychecks, amounting to only $30 a year or a little less than 60 cents a week.

Under the circumstances, the fact that Congress voted to exempt itself and public workers from the Social Security Act—and the payment of these new taxes—did not strike people as terribly out of line or inequitable.

But what about today when millions of Americans pay out more in Social Security taxes every year than they do in regular income taxes?

And outgo and income of the huge system, now covering 90 percent of the U. S. workforce, almost offset each other, so that everyone contributes for somebody else's retirement support. The question raised is:

Should Social Security now include members of Congress and be expanded to cover about 8 million workers in separate public retirement systems, similar to the way that Social Security and private pension systems work together? The Proposal to consolidate the systems under the Social Security Act, known as "universal coverage," is likely to become a major issue before the new 96th Congress, which is expected to bear the brunt of public reaction to the staggering increases in Social Security taxes voted by the last Congress in 1977.

These taxes rose sharply Jan. 1 and will add $19 billion to fiscal 1979's payroll taxes and $22 billion in fiscal 1980. For most workers the true impact of the increases will not come until later in the year, when the

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 1979. There are 308 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1531, an earthquake in Portugal killed tens of thousands of people and flattened much of Lisbon and other cities.

On this date:

In 1521, the Spanish governor of Puerto Rico, Ponce de Leon, sailed from San Juan on his second expedition to Florida.

In 1802, one of the great figures in French literature, Victor Hugo, was born.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte escaped from the exile island of Elba to begin his second conquest of France.

In 1918, during World War I, German planes bombed the Italian city of Venice.

In 1919, the U.S. Congress established Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona.

In 1967, five U.S. warships bombed supply lines and a munitions depot on the coast of North Vietnam.

Ten years ago: President Richard Nixon made an unprecedented appearance before the West German Bundestag in Bonn and called for maintenance of Allied strength.

Five years ago: Members of the House Judiciary Committee challenged President Nixon's assertion that he could not be impeached except on the basis of evidence that he had violated criminal law.

One year ago: The Israeli Cabinet decided to continue its controversial policy of establishing Israeli settlements in occupied Arab territory.

Today's birthdays: Comedian Jackie Gleason is 63. Former movie star Betty Hutton is 58. Opera singer Donald Gramm is 52.

Thought for today: It is characteristic of wisdom not to do desperate things — Henry David Thoreau, American writer, 1817-1862.

deductions, instead of stopping at $17,700, will continue to be taken out of paychecks up to a maximum of $22,900.

The issue of universal coverage almost came to a head in the last Congress when the House Ways and Means Committee recommended that both private and public workers be brought under the system. The House rejected this recommendation, but Congress voted to establish an independent study group to examine the feasibility of universal coverage.

The study group, which now is conducting public hearings, must make its report to Congress by the end of 1979.

One of the leading advocates of universal coverage, the Chamber of Commerce, of the United States, believes the plan would have both short and long-term beneficial effects. In the short run, the Chamber believes, the infusion of new revenues would permit Congress to roll back part of the increases voted by Congress in 1977.

In the long run, the business group says, the net result would be a more equitable system of protection for all workers with benefits in keeping with lifetime earnings and contributions. Both the Social Security and public employee systems also would be far better off, in terms of future financing, particularly the public systems which are notoriously underfunded for their future needs.

"We see no reason why any working American should be exempt from supporting and participating in Social Security which is, in reality, an income transfer system in which today's workers are taxed in order to supplement the incomes of those who have completed their working careers or who are widows, orphans or disabled," a spokesman for the Chamber, Richard W. Hutson, said in recent testimony before the study group. Hutson, a partner in a Illinois employee benefit consultant firm with 500 consultants who work with 2,000 employers, added:

"It should not be a question of whether... (but) rather it is one of how it might be promptly extended to everyone, especially members of Congress and federal employees, for whom coordinated coverage under Social Security and existing staff-retirement systems would assure that total benefits are reasonably related to a worker's lifetime earnings and contributions."

Two questions of paramount significance face members of Congress as the vital issue of universal coverage heads toward a Congressional decision:

Can members of Congress—who are exempt by virtue of a decision made when Social Security taxes were a pittance—close their eyes to the fact that in today's economy Social Security taxes will cost many American workers as much as $1,403 for 1979 alone—the maximum tax due from a worker earning $22,900 or more. Members of Congress, who earn $57,500 a year, would fall into that class.

Further, since members of Congress over the years have not had to share the burden of rapidly increasing Social Security taxes—they will rise by almost $200 billion in the next decade—can they vote the true desires and best interests of their constituents?

We shall see.

HEARTLINE: I wrote to you recently to get a list of the requirements for eligibility for Social Security disability benefits, which I have now received. There is one requirement which I really don't understand very well. It reads: "You must have at least 20 quarters of covered earnings under Social Security in 40 consecutive calendar quarters ending the quarter in which your disability began. In other words, you must have worked five years out of the 10-year period immediately preceding your disability." Does this mean that I must work five years in a row within the 10-year period before my disability began? Does this also mean that if I worked 25 years under Social Security and then did not work for six years before I became disabled, then I would not be eligible for Social Security disability at all? — D. M.

HEARTLINE: I applied for Social Security disability benefits in November 1978. My award certificate states that my determined date of disability was October 1978 and that I will receive my first first check in April. There will be no benefits paid between October and March. It has already been determined by Social Security that I am disabled, so why is it that I will receive no benefits for these months? — S. H.

For a disabled worker or a disabled widow or widower under the law, disability benefits begin after a waiting period of five full calendar months after the month in which the disability is determined to have begun.

No, it does not have to be five consecutive years. But you must have five years (20 quarters) of work under Social Security somewhere within the 10-year period immediately preceding your disability.

If you worked enough under Social Security to become fully insured (to become eligible for retirement benefits by earning the quarters necessary) and then did not work for six years before becoming disabled, you would not be eligible for disability benefits. Many people find this very difficult to understand and are denied benefits for this reason.

No benefits can be paid for these first five full months. Therefore, the first disability benefit check will be paid for the sixth full month of disability.

For those already on Social Security benefits, and those who will soon start receiving benefits, Heartline has written a guide to Social Security to explain facets of the program which will affect your benefits and eligibility. To order, send $2.00 to Heartline's Guide to Social Security, P. O. Box 11934, Chicago, Ill., 60611. Please allow six weeks for delivery.

HEARTLINE: My husband and I are drawing Social Security and we have a daughter who is 20 years old. She got married two years ago and has recently obtained a divorce. She is going back to college full-time. Is she eligible to draw Social Security, since she is back at home and once again a dependent? — K.D.

Yes, but only if she was not previously entitled to benefits on either of her parent's Social Security accounts, even if her benefits ended because she was 18. This provision does not apply if a marriage ends because it was void or annulled.

HEARTLINE: Is it true that any part of the $60 deductible I paid for Medicare in 1978 can also be applied for this year? — L. O.

In some cases this is true. If you meet all or any portion of your Medicare deductible in the last three months of the year (October, November or December), then that part of the previous year's deductible can also be counted toward the following year's $60 annual deductible.

Jimmy's White House

Jogging Mania Spreads

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jogging mania at the White House is spreading. Joining the parade of runners headed by President Carter and wife Rosalynn is Zbigniew Brzezinski, the president's 50-year-old national security adviser.

Within minutes after participating in a presidential review of disturbing developments in Iran, Brzezinski was seen circling the South Lawn driveway at the White House in a blue jogging suit.

During his visit to Mexico City last week, Carter not only found time for jogging but told President Jose Lopez Portillo that he had first adopted the sport during a 1971 visit to the Mexican capital as governor of Georgia.

With its 7,000-foot altitude, Mexico City certainly provides a rigorous test of a jogger's respiratory system.

The Carters' knowledge of Spanish, conspicuously exhibited during the Mexican visit, also is inspiring self-improvement efforts among some presidential aides.

Frank Moore, the White House assistant for congressional liaison, confided that he and a number of his associates plan to begin taking lessons in Spanish.

During the Mexico City stay, the motorcycle carrying the Carters to a performance of the Ballet Folklorico slowed to a crawl.

Appointments secretary Phil Wise got on his walkie-talkie and demanded an explanation for the slowdown.

Ellis Woodward, the president's chief advance man, replied that Lopez Portillo's motorcade was approaching from an intersecting street and planned to join the Carter procession to the theater.

After a pause, during which he presumably consulted with a higher authority, Wise shot back:

"He (the Mexican president) invited himself. Let him find his own way."

All the talk about Carter's irritation at being lectured in blunt terms by Lopez Portillo was reinforced by this episode.

During one of his lecture sessions, the Mexican leader got so hot up that he interrupted a tirade on the treatment of poor Mexicans in the United States to say:

"I confess, Mr. President, that I am deeply moved, and I shall try to be more stable."

At least, that's what the interpreter told Carter.

A written translation subsequently distributed by the Mexican government quoted Lopez-Portillo as having said: "I confess my emotion, which I will try to keep under control."

Season Finale

Racers Edged 85-84 By Austin Peay, End Slate With A Record-Setting 22 Losses

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor
CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. — "You had a great season, John. It was a pleasure to work with you," Ron Greene told John Randall as the 6-8 senior exited the dressing room Saturday night.

Moments later, Greene, the Murray State basketball coach, greeted Tom Leffler, the only other senior member of the Racers squad. "We had the game won," he told Leffler. "But it's been that kind of season, hasn't it?"

About the only thing good about the 85-84 loss to Austin Peay is that it was the last one the Racers will endure. The defeat closed their season with a 4-22 mark and ended Murray's conference slate with a 2-10 record.

The 22 losses is the most in OVC history, surpassing the previous mark of 21 set by Austin Peay during the 1969-70 season.

"Luck?" Greene said in answer to a question following the game. "I believe there is such a thing in basketball, but we haven't seen it all year."

"There's another element in basketball, too," he said. "It's called execution, and we just haven't been getting it in some key situations."

With the game tied at 80-all and less than a minute left, Austin Peay's Cere Myrick deflected a Herman Boyd pass intended for David Lowry, the ball bounced off Lowry's chest and Myrick dumped the ball off to Alfred Barney.

Barney hit the ensuing layup, was fouled by Boyd and sank the free throw to give the Governors an 83-80 advantage with just 17 seconds remaining.

"The cross-court pass shouldn't have been made," said Greene of the Myrick steal. "Our execution has been faulty like that many times this year, and it hurt us again."

The contest had a rather negative tone to it — the winner would avoid finishing last in the league standings. Austin Peay finished 8-18 and 3-9 in the OVC, good for sixth place.

"Obviously, both teams were playing on spirit and their competitive edge and nothing else," said Austin Peay coach Ed Thompson. "But the effort was there on the part of both teams."

It was especially there from Barney, a 6-3 senior guard. He scored a career-high 35 points, including a 20-footer that pulled his team even at 80 after Lowry had sank 1-of-2 free throws for Murray with 55 seconds left.

But it was nearly four minutes later that Murray took its first lead since the early going on Randall's layup to make it 79-78 with 2:23 left.

Allen Mann's career-high 20 points paced Murray, which placed five players in double figures. Randall chipped in 15 points, followed by Kenney Hammonds with 14, Lowry with 11 and Leffler with 10.

"These last few games was the first time I was able to really get in the swing of things," said Mann, a 6-6 transfer from Oakland Community College in Michigan.

Mann also grabbed a game-high nine rebounds as the Racers topped Austin Peay 35-30 in that department.

"I can only hope that losses like this one will balance out for us next season," said Greene. "It's been long and frustrating."

Leffler, a 6-3 forward, scored all of his points in the second half on 5-of-6 shooting to keep the Racers close. Within a seven-minute span, he scored 10 of Murray's 16 points.

"What can you say? It's been this way all year. We always come close but something has happened to spoil it for us," Leffler said.

OVC Tourney Pairings Set; Morehead In

By the Associated Press
Morehead State and Middle Tennessee State each wrapped up the regular basketball season with victories to gain berths in the four-team Ohio Valley Conference playoff.

Morehead defeated Eastern Kentucky 98-91 while MTSU rolled over Western Kentucky 81-76. All four teams moved into the OVC playoffs which start Friday in Richmond.

Meanwhile, Austin Peay inched past Murray State in a game of OVC also-rans, 85-84. Tennessee Tech played its final game of the season out of the conference and was trampled 107-70 by East Tennessee State.

Despite its loss Saturday, Eastern took the OVC title with a 9-3 conference record, 19-7 overall. Middle Tennessee, Morehead, Western Kentucky and Tennessee Tech all finished with 7-5 OVC records. Under the OVC tie-breaking system, Tennessee Tech was eliminated.

Morehead got 32 points from Herbie Stamper and put on a second-half shooting streak to upset Eastern Kentucky, which got a spectacular 43 points from James Tillman.

Morehead, 14-12 overall, ran off 14 unanswered points during a 3½ minute stretch late in the game for a safe 91-83 lead.

Eastern jumped ahead early behind the scoring of Tillman, the nation's No. 3 scorer who pumped in 29 points in the first half. But Morehead chipped away in the waning minutes of the half and led at intermission 49-48.

Charlie Clay added 20 points for Morehead while Bruce Jones chipped in with 15 for Eastern.

Leroy Coleman and Greg Joyner combined for 50 points to lead Middle Tennessee past Western Kentucky.

MTSU and Western each ended the season with 16-10 overall records.

"It was a great way to finish up what has been a tremendous experience," retiring MTSU coach Jimmy Earle said. He announced his retirement last week.

Joyner poured in 26 points and grabbed a game-high nine rebounds while Coleman hit 24.

Middle Tennessee took the lead for good at 23-21 on a 15-foot jump shot by Joyner with nine minutes to go in the first half.

Western was paced by Greg Jackson's 25 points.

Winfred Reid's 20 points paced East Tennessee past Tennessee Tech, which never led in the game.

Brian Troupe's 14 points led Tennessee Tech, while teammate Paul Chadwell was next with 13.

The Buccaneers are now 16-10 overall, while Tennessee Tech dropped to 11-15 overall.

This Season To Be Last As A Laker For Davis

The district and regional tournament is always important to a high school coach, but this year's may mean something extra to Calloway County's Marianne Davis.

The Laker girls coach for the past three seasons, Davis has tendered her resignation as teacher and coach at Calloway as of June 1. Her husband, Wayne, has accepted another position in Frankfort.

"I guess the tournament will be of added significance, but we're at the top of our game right now, anyway," said Davis, who has guided her squad to a three-year mark of 44-22, including a 16-2 regular season this year.

Both this year's and last season's squad got off to 11-0 starts.

"I told the girls on Wednesday (of her leaving)," Davis said. "I've always been honest with them, and I felt like they needed to know."

Her Lakers take on the loser of the Murray High-Marshall County matchup Friday night in the Fourth District tourney in the Murray State Sports Arena.

"We've gotten lucky the past two years with the draw," said Davis of the unique district format, in which both teams that play in the first round must lose twice to be eliminated.

Calloway, ranked No. 1 in the First Region in the most recent coaches' poll, must win Friday to assure itself a berth in the regional draw.

The championship game, if necessary, will be Saturday.

McGuire Bemoans Errors After UK Triumphs 79-74

By the Associated Press
COLUMBIA, S.C. — "Mistakes, mistakes, mistakes" is what South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire figured to be the difference in his team's 79-74 loss to Kentucky.

And, since McGuire's team came out on the short end of the score, it was the mistakes made by his Gamecocks during a second half rally that troubled him most.

"We played so hard, but we made mistakes near the end," McGuire said.

South Carolina managed to cut a 10-point Kentucky lead to 73-72 with 54 seconds left when the Gamecock mistakes began to take their toll.

After South Carolina got within one of Mike Doyle's threepoint play, Kentucky's Kyle Macy lofted an inbound pass to teammate Dwight Anderson, who was streaking down the floor like a football wide receiver. He took the pass in stride and converted it into a slam dunk layup and a 75-72 lead.

"We called that during the timeout before," said Kentucky Coach Joe Hall. "We just wanted to look at it. If he (Anderson) was open, we were going to throw it. If he wasn't, we were going to put it in bounds."

Seconds after Anderson's fly pattern, Macy stole a South Carolina pass and Jay Shidler added the last of his 20 points on free throws for a safe 77-72 lead with 32 seconds to play.

"You always make sure they don't get the long pass for a layup," said McGuire, whose team forgot that bit of coaching strategy at a most inopportune time. "Then we made a bad pass and turned it over."

Shidler, who has hit 66.7 percent of his shots in the last 10 games, tied his career high of 20 points by hitting eight of nine shots, all but one from long range. The junior guard scored Kentucky's first eight points and had 14 at the half. Anderson added 16 points and Fred Cowan chipped in with 14.

Kentucky built three ninepoint leads in the first half before taking a 37-32 halftime lead, and held a 65-55 margin before South Carolina made its final run.

Doyle and Cedrick Hordges each scored 24 points for South Carolina.

Kentucky, which finished regular season play at 16-10, begins play Wednesday in the Southeastern Conference tournament at Birmingham. The Cats will tangle with Mississippi in the opener.

Just A Gift

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
It is a gift, Mike Bossy will tell you, a God-given gift that can't be taught and is tough to explain. It is a knack, an ability, a remarkable talent for scoring goals that has put him in the National Hockey League record book.

Right now, Mike Bossy of the New York Islanders is the hottest thing on two skates. He has developed into an awesome scoring machine with 50 goals for the season, tops in the NHL. He has scored 27 goals in his last 28 games and has just finished a record-setting scoring streak of 10 consecutive games.

"I don't want to sound rash, or anything like that, but 10 games doesn't sound like an awful lot. Ten's not that much, really," says Bossy. "I thought the consecutive game streak would be longer than that."

Goals have always come easy for this bushy-haired young man from Montreal, but he could have been playing for one of a dozen other NHL clubs who chose ahead of New York in the 1977 amateur draft.

Because of their success, the Islanders were pretty far down in the draft rotation — No. 15, in fact. That meant 14 junior hockey players would be gone before General Manager Bill Torrey could make his pick for the Islanders. That's a lot of talent to wade through and Torrey thought that Bossy would not be available by the time the Islanders' turn came up.

"Two things worked in our favor," said Torrey. "First, there were three or four good defensemen available and the need is so great for them that most teams will grab them."

So defenders Barry Beck and Robert Picard and Doug Wilson and Brad Maxwell and Trevor Johanson were scooped up. And Bossy remained.

"The other thing was that there were seven or eight right wings available," Torrey continued. "All of them had credentials."

So right wings Mike Crombeen, Lucien DeBlois, John Anderson and Rick Sellinger were scooped up. And Bossy remained.

There was a third thing — Bossy's reputation as a oneway hockey player. He could score, certainly, but could he check? Was he tough enough?

John Ferguson of the New York Rangers and Ron Caron of the Montreal Canadiens were two who publicly doubted Bossy's defensive abilities. So Ferguson, with two first-round picks, drafted DeBlois and Ron Duguay for the Rangers. Caron picked Mark Napier for the Canadiens. All three picks were made with Bossy still there for the taking.

Official Plays Big Role, Says Hargrove, As Lakers Fall To Fulton Co. 89-58

HICKMAN, Ky. — Officially, Clayton Hargrove had never seen anything like it. "He was the worst official I've ever seen," said Hargrove, the Calloway County coach.

After watching Fulton County drub his Lakers 89-58 Saturday night, Hargrove didn't go as far as saying that the official made the difference in the ball game.

"But he took us right out of it," he said. Calloway trailed 39-27 after two quarters, but scored three quick baskets to trim the margin to six in the opening minute of the second half.

"They he called us for walking five straight times," said Hargrove. "We weren't doing anything any differently than earlier. Those calls killed any momentum we had."

For the record, the loss closed Calloway's regular season and dropped it to 6-18 on the year as the Lakers begin preparation for the Fourth District Tournament. The event is slated to begin Thursday in the Murray State Sports Arena.

Calloway drew a first-round bye and will face the loser of the Murray High-Marshall County matchup. Should the Lakers lose, they will be eliminated.

The Fulton County game completed a two-game sweep through the First District in which Hargrove felt his team played its best basketball of the season.

"Against Hickman County (a loss Friday night) we played very well for almost the entire game. And against Fulton County, well, the official made it hard to determine how well we were playing.

"But I can tell you that he will never officiate another game. He's from Murray, so I hope he reads this and finds out how I feel about him."

Scott Barrow paced the Lakers with 14 points, followed by Craig Rogers, David Cohoon and Stan Rushing, all with 10 each.

Ralph Akers and Darvell Holder, two-thirds of Fulton County's overpowering front line, combined for 55 points to help the Pilots close their season with a 15-5 mark.

"Even their coach (Steve Colson) told me he was the worst official he had ever seen," said Hargrove. "It really upset the kids to be taken out of a game like that."

And what of Calloway's district tournament chances?

"Everyone is 0-0 now," he said. "We're really looking forward to it. We have nothing to lose, so we should play very well."

Defense Propels Spurs; Nets Take Battle of NY

By the Associated Press

It was supposed to be an old fashioned Texas shootout, the winner being the team quickest on the draw. Instead it was the San Antonio Spurs' much-maligned defense that defused the Houston Rockets.

"They can say what they want about our defense, but we just shut them down completely in the first half," said San Antonio Coach Doug Moe, whose team broke out to a 65-44 halftime lead and went on to beat the Rockets 127-107 Sunday.

In other NBA games, the New Jersey Nets beat the New York Knicks 116-102, the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Denver Nuggets 119-111, the Kansas City Kings trimmed the Seattle SuperSonics 114-106, the Washington Bullets topped the Golden State Warriors 99-89, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Chicago Bulls 117-108, the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Detroit Pistons 126-119 in overtime, the San Diego Clippers outscored the Boston Celtics 131-116 and the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Indiana Pacers 118-108.

Nets 116, Knicks 102

John Williamson, who scored just two points before fouling out Saturday night as New York beat New Jersey 111-107 in New York, came back Sunday and scored 30 as the Nets gained revenge at home.

76ers 119, Nuggets 111

Philadelphia trailed 100-85 with 10 minutes to play before running off bursts of 14 and nine consecutive points to win. Julius Erving had 12 points in the stretch for the 76ers and Darryl Dawkins nine.

Kings 114, Sonics 106

Kansas City posted its 15th straight homecourt victory and widened its Midwest Division lead over Denver to seven games as Otis Birdsong scored 34 points.

Bullets 99, Warriors 89

Elvin Hayes poured in 31 points, including six in a three-minute span of the fourth quarter when the Bullets broke open a close game.

Cavs 117, Bulls 108

Cleveland scored 10 of the game's last 12 points to beat the Bulls. Rookie Mike Mitchell led the Cavs with 24 points, but it was a pair of kty rElmore Smith that touched off the decisive flurry at the end.

Clippers 131, Celtics 116

San Diego posted its fifth straight victory and climbed one game over .500 at 32-31 by scoring 72 points in the second half. Lloyd Free scored 38 points and backcourtmate Randy Smith added 32.

Blazers 126, Pistons 119

Lionel Hollins scored six of his 29 points in overtime as Portland snapped Detroit's four-game winning streak and climbed to the .500 mark at 30-30.

Lakers 118, Pacers 108

Los Angeles moved into first place in the Pacific Division, one-half game ahead of Seattle, by beating the Pacers behind 23 points apiece by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Adrian Dantley.

Wadkins' Shot On 17th Hole Provides Margin In LA Open

By the Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Facing a 613-yard hole, a par 5, and you have a great tee shot with a driver where the wind isn't much of a factor, what club do you take from your bag for that second golf shot?

Lanny Wadkins just kept his driver and used it again from the fairway and got close enough to the 17th hole to use a sand wedge to the green even though he wasn't in the sand.

The ball stopped two feet from the hole, Wadkins carded a birdie and that brought him the championship of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open by a single shot over Lon Hinkle.

With the birdie, Wadkins carded a 69 Sunday, giving him a total score of 276, 8-under-par for the 72 holes, and a top prize of $45,000. Hinkle finished at 70-277 and earned $27,000.

"I have lost tournaments before by hitting high shots onto wet fairways," Wadkins said after his victory. "This time I wanted a shot that would be low, hit and roll and that's why I used the driver on the second shot."

"I didn't want to get stuck in the mud and even with the wedge shot, I wanted it to hit and run," the winner said.

Despite the birdie on 17, it took a pressure 10-foot putt on the 18th to wrap up Wadkins' victory.

Behind Hinkle was Kermit Zarley at 71-278; Andy Bean, 70-278; Fuzzy Zoeller, 70-279; Ed Sneed, 69-279; Jim Colbert, 69-280; Tommy Aaron, 69-280; and Rod Curl, 66-280. The latter carded a 32 on his final nine. Wadkins, Hinkle and Zarley entered the final round deadlocked at 207.

Wadkins, 29, from Advance, N.C., changed putters after the second round and made some alterations in his grip in the final round.

"It was so minor that nobody would notice it, but I could feel it," said the winner, who has criticized his putting all season.

Metro Tournament Pairings Scheduled

By the Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Defending champion Louisville is topped seeded and will receive a first-round bye in the 1979 Metro Conference basketball tournament, according to Metro Commissioner Larry Albus.

The March 1-3 tournament will be held at the Mid-South Coliseum here, with the winner receiving an automatic berth in the NCAA tournament.

Louisville, the preseason favorite to win the Metro championship, is 23-6 overall and ranked 13th nationally after winning the regular season championship with a 9-1 record.

Florida State, 17-9 overall and 7-3 in conference play, is seeded second.

Others in the field include Memphis State (12-14, 5-5), Virginia Tech (18-8, 4-6), Cincinnati (13-13, 4-6), St. Louis (10-16, 3-7), and Tulane (8-18, 2-8).

Cincinnati and Virginia Tech will open the tournament Thursday with a 12:30 p.m. CST game. Florida State and Tulane meet at 7 p.m., followed by host Memphis State and St. Louis at 9 p.m.

Louisville opens defense of its 1978 Metro title Friday, playing the winner of the Cincinnati-Virginia Tech game at 7 p.m. The second semifinal game will feature the winners of the Florida State-Tulane and Memphis State-St. Louis games.

Connors Wins; LPGa Trying

DORADO, Puerto Rico — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors beat Vitas Gerulaitis 6-5, 6-0, 6-4 in the finals of a World Championship Tennis tournament.

DETROIT — Wendy Turnbull defeated Virginia Ruzici 7-5, 1-6, 7-6 in the singles final of a $150,000 women's tennis tournament.

After splitting the first two sets, a 6-6 deadlock in the third set was settled by a 12-point tie-breaker that Turnbull won 7-4.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Persistent rains forced postponement of the final round of the $75,000 LPGa Orange Blossom Classic tournament. Officials of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tried three times unsuccessfully to start the third round.

Racer Women End Slate With Loss To Governors, Finish Season At 10-16

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. — The Murray State women's loss wasn't particularly good, but it couldn't have come at a better time for Austin Peay, the team that defeated the Racers.

Saturday's 76-62 decision enabled the Governors to grab their first Ohio Valley Conference victory since the women began playing a conference schedule dating back to last season.

Prior to the contest, Austin Peay was 0-10 in the OVC and 3-17 overall. For Murray State, it meant a ninth loss in 11 games that closed its regular season at 10-16.

The Racers travel to Bowling Green Thursday for a first-round game in the Kentucky Women's Intercollegiate Conference Tournament. The winner of the event will advance to national competition.

Jackie Mounts, a senior playing her final regular-season contest, paced Murray with 15 points and a game-high 15 rebounds. Laura Lynn followed with 12 points, and Maria Kelsch chipped in 10.

Golena Rucker scored 17 points for the Governors, followed by Elaine Swafford with 14 and Jeanne Arnold with 12.

The Racers, who completed their OVC slate with a 4-9 mark, finished with lowly 31-percent shooting as they connected on only 27-of-85 attempts.

Austin Peay, meanwhile, sank 32-of-64 tries for an even 50 percent.

Smotherman Paces Lakers

Richard Smotherman pumped in 19 points to help the Calloway County junior-varsity squad to a 60-31 beating of Fulton County Saturday night that finished the Lakers' season with a 15-4 mark.

Junior High Tourney Is On

The Calloway County eighth-grade basketball tournament will go on as scheduled tonight, when North Calloway takes on East in a girls contest to open the action in Jeffrey Gymnasium.

The boys contest between Southwest and East will follow at approximately 7:45 p.m.

Tuesday, the Southwest girls will face the North-East winner at 6:30 p.m., and the North boys will tackle the Southwest-East victor. Both games will be for the championship.

Admission is $1 for students and $1.50 for adults.

Racer Track Team Competes Saturday

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Murray State track coach Bill Cornell wasn't too pleased, to say the least, after this weekend's Illinois Classic.

"We would have been better to stay at home," said Cornell, after his team failed to win a single event in the prestigious event.

David Warren finished third in the 1000-yard run with a time of 2:10.7, while Alfred Brown was fourth in the 60-yard dash in 6.4. Everton Cornelious was sixth in the event in 6.6.

Mitch Johnston didn't place in the mile run, but he did record a personal best of 4:12.5. Jerry Odlin finished in 4:13.5.

The two-mile relay team, expected to have a good chance of winning, finished only seventh. Johnston, running the first leg, recorded another personal best of 1:52.9.

Axel Leitnmayr, in Canada to try out for his country's national team, placed second with a leap of 7-0 and will be eligible to compete for Canada when national competition begins.

The Racers will compete in the "Last-Chance Invitational" in Murfreesboro, Tenn., Saturday.

Indiana State 26-0 And Counting

Sycamores Finish Unbeaten

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Bill Hodges just doesn't want to go to the NCAA basketball playoffs — he wants to go first class.

"We'd like to win our conference tournament title because of the bye we would earn in the first round," notes the coach of the Indiana State Sycamores.

By winning the regular-season championship of the Missouri Valley Conference, the Sycamores have virtually assured themselves of a bid to the prestigious postseason tourney.

The nation's second-ranked team will go into the MVC playoffs this week with a sparkling 26-0 record after putting the finishing touches on the regular season Sunday with a 109-84 beating of Wichita State.

"We don't feel any pressure," said Hodges, alluding to his team's perfect record. "And therefore we don't need a loss to take any pressure off us."

Meanwhile, Jacksonville officially became the first team to gain an NCAA playoff berth by winning the Sun Belt Conference tournament Sunday with a 68-54 decision over South Florida. Thirteenth-ranked Louisville, the Metro Conference regular season champion, also played Sunday, dropping a 91-76 exhibition game to the Russian national team. The Cardinals had beaten Tulane 96-71 on Saturday.

In a key game Saturday, sixth-ranked Duke defeated fourth-ranked North Carolina 47-40 to tie for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship. But the Tar Heels later won the draw for a first-round bye in the ACC playoffs, which start on Thursday.

The Big Ten race was tightened as a result of Saturday's action, as No. 7 Michigan State whipped Illinois 76-62, No. 12 Iowa beat No. 14 Ohio State 83-68 and No. 18 Purdue defeated Michigan 67-59. That set up a three-way tie between Michigan State, Iowa and Ohio State, with Purdue one game behind with two games to go.

Elsewhere, UCLA maintained a one-game lead over Southern Cal in the Pacific-10 race with a 110-102 triple-overtime victory over Washington State; third-ranked Notre Dame beat La Salle 93-70 and fifth-ranked Louisiana State was upset by Mississippi State 65-57.

Also, eighth-ranked Syracuse walloped Colgate 113-62; No. 9 Marquette was upset by No. 20 DePaul 61-60; No. 15 Temple turned back Dayton 66-63; No. 16 Detroit stopped Loyola of Chicago 72-69 and No. 17 Georgetown beat Holy Cross 63-54 in double overtime.

Center James Ray scored 15 points and guard Paul DeVito added 12 as Jacksonville beat South Florida in the Sun Belt playoffs. Regular-season champion South Alabama wasn't even in the finals, having lost to Jacksonville in the semifinals Friday night.

Anatoli Mishkin scored 10 points to lead a balanced Russian team past Louisville in a nationally televised game.

The Soviet Union built a 25-point lead with just over five minutes gone in the second half, virtually sewing it up at that point.

Jim Spanarkel scored 17 points and Duke survived a surprise four-corner delay game by North Carolina in the early stages to beat the Tar Heels.

Earvin Johnson scored 21 points, handed out 11 assists and collected 11 rebounds to lead Michigan State over Illinois. Ronnie Lester's 31 points powered Iowa over Ohio State. Purdue beat Michigan as Joe Barry Carroll scored 35.

Brad Holland, Roy Hamilton and Kiki Vandeweghe hit 10 straight free throws in the last three minutes of the third overtime to boost UCLA over Washington State; Bill Laimbeer's 19 points paced Notre Dame over La Salle; Wiley Peck's 21 points led Mississippi State over LSU.

Marty Headd and Louis Orr teamed for 34 points as Syracuse beat Colgate. Gary Garland's layup with four seconds left after a missed shot by teammate Clyde Bradshaw lifted DePaul over Marquette. Larry Williams scored 20 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in the last home start of his career to pace Louisville over Tulane.

Neil Robinson and Walt Montford teamed for 37 points to lead Temple over Dayton. Earl Cureton scored 20 points to pace Detroit over Loyola-Chicago. Georgetown beat Holy Cross on Eric Smith's clutch basket in the second overtime.

Rangers Score, Suffer

By The Associated Press
The New York Rangers scored an important victory and suffered a serious loss — all in the same game.

The Rangers, second in the National Hockey League's Patrick Division, beat the first-place New York Islanders 3-2 Sunday night. They also snapped a 10-game goal scoring streak by second-year right wing Mike Bossy and held the Islanders without a shot on goalie Doug Seateart in the second period.

But in the process, they lost their leading scorer for the rest of the regular season.

Center Ulf Nilsson suffered a fractured right ankle when checked into the boards by defenseman Denis Potvin with 1:20 left in the first period. The players' upper bodies collided explosively, but Nilsson's skate "must have gotten caught in the ice," said Potvin. The injury will take at least six weeks to heal.

In the other NHL games, the Montreal Canadiens downed the Washington Capitals 8-5, the Detroit Red Wings crushed the Colorado Rockies 8-1 and the Pittsburgh Penguins tied the Chicago Black Hawks 2-2.

Martin Will Return, But On Conditions

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Billy Martin will return as manager of the New York Yankees in 1980 only if he is found innocent of charges that he punched a Reno, Nev., sports writer and is on his best behavior in the future, according to owner George Steinbrenner.

"It's cut and dried," Steinbrenner said Sunday at the world champions' spring training camp here. "If he's innocent, he'll be back. If he makes a settlement, that's no good. If he settles it out of court, that's the same as being guilty."

Steinbrenner showed up at the Yankees' camp for the first time three days after Bossy had scored in each of his team's games since being shut out by the Rangers on Jan. 27. His streak had tied the modern record shared by the Rangers' Andy Bathgate and Chicago's Bobby Hull.

Sunday night, he didn't get a shot on goal. Neither did the entire Islander team in the second period.

Martin's surprise appearance in which the former manager said he wanted to iron out details of his scheduled return for the 1980-81 seasons.

Martin has not signed a formal contract, although Steinbrenner dramatically announced his return last July 30, five days after his tearful resignation in a Kansas City hotel.

Steinbrenner has implied several times that Martin's future behavior will play a large part in whether he comes back. However, Martin has been accused of punching sports writer Ray Hager during an interview last November.

MSU Tennis Team Opens With 2 Wins

NASHVILLE — The Murray State women's tennis team opened its spring schedule with two resounding weekend victories.

The Racers thumped Emory (Atlanta) 8-1 Friday before belting Vanderbilt 6-3 Saturday.

Both Karen Weis at No. 1 singles and Bitsy Ritt at No. 2 grabbed two victories, as did Anne Riss at No. 4 and Yvonne Utley at No. 5.

Weis and Ritt also teamed for two wins at No. 1 doubles, as did Riss and Becky Jones at No. 3.

"I was really pleased, especially since we had played only once outdoors since the fall," said coach Nita Head.

The results:

at Nashville
Murray 5, Emory 1
Karen Weis d. Susan Denton 6-0, 6-0; Bitsy Ritt d. Charlotte Squire 6-0, 6-1; Lynn Martin d. Janet McLeod 6-4, 6-3; Anne Riss d. Allison Campbell 7-4, 6-2; Yvonne Utley d. Stephanie Goodman 6-0, 6-2; Becky Jones d. Janice Nunn 6-1, 6-2; Weis-Ritt d. Denton-Campbell 6-0, 6-0; Squire-McLeod (E) d. Martin-Utley 6-4, 6-4; Riss-Jones d. Goodman-Nunn 6-0, 6-0.

Murray 6, Vanderbilt 1

A New Draft

Latest Form Of Pro Sports May Be A League Of Golf Teams

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — If all goes according to plan, a new type of player draft will commence this June — not for baseball, basketball or football, but for team golf.

If the ambitious scheme succeeds, joining the AL, NL, NFL, NHL, WHA, etc., will be the IPGL.

That's the International Professional Golf League, being organized in Tampa, Fla., by a luggage salesman and a marketing man. Their plans call for a guaranteed $23 million purse in the first year. The IPGL goal is to have 24 franchised teams. Eighteen are planned for North America, three in Europe and three in Asia. If the plan gets past the first tee, the IPGL schedule is to include 168 regular games — with 12 going simultaneously — in a 14-week season of match and medal play. The season would run between May and September.

During the week of the U.S. Open, the IPGL would be idle. "It's like observing Lincoln's birthday," says idea man and IPGL founder Ken Roberts, 48, a Buffalo, N.Y., marketing specialist who has worked sales and promotion from land to barbecue grills. "We'll observe the holidays. We want to help golf, not hurt it."

Starting in June, 960 players are to be drafted, making up 40-member rosters: 36 players and four alternates on each team. The organizers expect to get some of the lower rung on the PGA tour, but not the top money-earners.

A player would be required to pay $10,000 himself, and an owner must put up $600,000, including a $250,000 franchise fee and $15,000 per player. The money would go into an escrow account for the prize fund.

Mason and Bobby Outland, seed dealers from Murray, Kentucky, recently were awarded a diploma upon completion of Pfizer Genetics' Basic School of Seedmanship in Owensboro. The comprehensive five-day program is designed to provide participants with the most up-to-date agricultural and technological information in the seed industry. Pfizer Genetics' Area Director of Operations, Rod Hanchett, made the presentation.

Masons Complete Seedmanship School

Mason and Bobby Outland, seed dealers from Murray, Kentucky, recently completed Pfizer Genetics' Basic School of Seedmanship in Owensboro. The week-long school provides participants with the most up-to-date agricultural and technological knowledge in the seed industry.

Among the subjects Mason and Bobby covered in the course were the history of seed development and breeding of seed varieties, crop management practices, fertility, and problems with diseases, weeds and insects in corn, soybeans and sorghum. Mason and Bobby learned about farm financing, the role of the United States in world food production and hedging of commodities. They also received updated information about Pfizer Genetics products and results of company research.

Since 1977, more than 900 dealers have graduated from Pfizer Genetics' Basic and Advanced Schools of Seedmanship. Both schools are designed to help make Pfizer Genetics dealers the best informed seed experts in the industry.

Pfizer Genetics Inc. produces and markets Trojan brand hybrid seed corn and Pfizer Genetics soybeans and sorghum seed.

Fresh Food Marketing Potential $12.5 Million

To the passerby or customer who doesn't know any better, those fresh food stands that appear on roadsides might represent a little summer sideline for a farmer or gardener.

In fact, those "little" stands actually contribute a substantial sum to the incomes of most growers who sell direct to the consumer.

Farmer-to-consumer fruit and vegetable operations hold a potential $12.5 million in gross sales annually for Kentuckians, according to a horticulturist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

John Strang says many growers report they could sell more fresh fruits and vegetables than they do if adequate labor were available. But most fresh food marketers are small growers and many operations are family operations.

"Vegetable and fruit production is intensive. A lot of hand labor is required," notes Strang.

Despite that fact, direct marketing is popular in Kentucky. A state Department of Agriculture directory of fresh market growers in the state lists 336 farmer-to-consumer operations, according to Strang. He says that figure does not include the numerous roadside markets set up impromptu at convenient locations along the highway.

Markets set up at or near the site of production and pick-your-own operations are common. Farmers markets where a number of farmers sell from one location are gaining in prominence, according to Strang who points out that these markets benefit the small grower who might not have enough produce to operate his own market.

Why would a grower want to take on the added work of marketing his produce?

"Fresh market fruits and vegetables offer the possibility of a high cash return for a small investment," says Strang. He explains that about 33 cents of every vegetable and fruit dollar spent in a retail store goes to the grower, with the rest paying for marketing.

So, in direct marketing, the grower gets more of that dollar. However, Strang points out that the grower also bears the risk of not being able to sell his produce, as well as the risk of disease and insect damage at the stand.

There also are other considerations for the fresh food marketer.

Strang says roadside markets and "U-pick" operations need comprehensive and liability insurance coverage — not a homeowners policy. The cost varies, but insurance runs $100 to $150 a year, he estimates.

Also, health laws regulate the amount of pesticides present on produce at the time of sale and pesticides which may be used to control insects around produce stands, says Strang.

Finally, the construction of buildings or construction of a new entrance from the highway might require permits from local planning and zoning agencies or the state Department of Transportation.

And Strang says it's a good idea to check regulations on sign erection. The College of Agriculture and State Department of Agriculture last year started a two-year project to aid farmers involved in direct marketing.

Funded under the federal Farmer-to-Consumer Direct Marketing Act of 1976, the project has five goals: To develop a procedure for assessing local market demand; develop a means of evaluating sites for markets; provide growers with materials for use in developing production plans; aid growers in developing managerial skills and provide technical assistance for marketing.

For growers looking ahead to this season, Strang has some timely advice.

He says now is the time to think about starting seeds for tomatoes, broccoli, cabbage, eggplant and peppers and to order vegetable seeds. If strawberries are to be planted, plants need to be ordered.

Growers should test their soil to see what fertilizer is needed and to order fertilizer, pesticides and herbicides. Soil samples may be submitted to county agricultural Extension agents for analysis, reminds Strang.

The horticulturist says it's a good idea to diversify roadside market offerings to appeal to a wide range of customers. He lists top sellers at farmer-to-consumer markets as apples, peaches, strawberries, plums, sweet corn, tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers and snap beans.

If a location is not very good, growers should consider spending more on advertising, says Strang. But he adds that most sales will be to customers living in a 25-mile radius of the market. "They generally don't drive that much farther."

Finally, Strang advises direct market growers who want to be listed in the state agriculture department's "Kentucky Fruit and Vegetable Directory" to contact their county agricultural Extension agents.

"Don't worry about the storm, dear."

Hog Show At MSU Turns Out To Be Family Affair Thursday

The final competition in the annual West Kentucky Market Hog Show at Murray State University turned out Thursday to be a family affair.

Winning six of the top 10 awards in the carcass contest was the Thompson family of Union County, producers of 800 to 1,000 market hogs each year.

The carcass of a 200-pound cross-bred animal, entered by George Thompson, Route 2, Morganfield, took the top carcass award by dressing out as the best of 71 animals judged both on-foot and on-the-hook in this year's three-day show.

When dressed Tuesday at the Reelfoot Packing Company, Union City, Tenn., the animal, which Tuesday had placed 12th in the adult lightweight, on-foot judging, produced a percentage of lean of 69.55. Its carcass measured 32.2 inches with an average of .9 of one percent backfat taken in three measurements.

Its loin eye measurement was 8.0 inches, as compared with the 4.5 inches minimum required for qualification. Ten carcasses were disqualified because the loin eye measurement did not meet this standard.

The second-place carcass was that of a 200-pound animal exhibited by Thompson's son, Alan, a student at Western Kentucky University. It produced a 67.94 percentage of lean, a carcass length of 31.3 inches, backfat measurement of 1.0 and a loin eye measurement of 7.41 inches.

Judged third was the carcass of a 200-pound animal entered in the youth division by Brian Thompson, a middle school student at Morganfield and a nephew of George Thompson. Its percentage of lean was 67.93, only one-tenth of one percent behind that of his cousin's second-place carcass. Its carcass length also was 31.3 inches, its backfat percentage 1.0 and its loin eye 7.7 inches.

A second carcass entered by Alan Thompson finished fourth with a 67.42 percentage of lean and he also had the sixth-place carcass with a 66.86 percentage.

The Thompson's sixth award was won by Jerry Thompson, father of Brian, with a 200-pound animal whose carcass dressed out 66.70 percent lean. It had the longest carcass of the six with 31.7 inches, 1.2 percent backfat and a loin eye of 7.67 inches.

Jerry Thompson is immediate past president of the Kentucky Pork Producers Association. His wife, Kathleen, currently is president of the Kentucky State Porkettes, the ladies' arm of the KPPA.

Taking the fifth-place award was the carcass of an animal entered by Allen Frank of Frank's Sunrise Farms at Guthrie. Its lean percentage was 67.12, its backfat 1.0, its carcass length 32 inches and its loin eye 8.4, the greatest of all the carcasses exhibited.

Frank's animal Tuesday had been named the Grand Champion in the on-foot judging.

Frank McAtee of Cadiz won the adults' on-foot judging contest, Tuesday with 187 points out of a possible 200. Jeff Futrell, Route 5, Benton, was the winner of the on-foot judging among the youth with 194 points out of 200. Sixty-four adults and 138 youngsters under the age of 18 participated in the judging.

For the third consecutive year, the Union City packers donated the loins of the top six carcasses to show officials to be sold to the highest bidders at an awards banquet Thursday night.

The 14.5-pound loin from the winning carcass was purchased by the Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association of Mayfield with a bid of $3.20 per pound. Mary Jane McAtee of Cadiz and the 1978 Kentucky Pork Queen, presented the awards at the banquet.

The show has been held annually on the Murray campus since 1955, and this year's events were sponsored jointly by the university and the Kentucky Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the State Extension Service and the Kentucky vocational agriculture department.

Placing the animals, both on-foot and slaughtered, was done by Dr. York Varney, meat extension specialist at the University of Kentucky and who has been performing this service at the show since its inception.

Selenium Permitted In Feed

Selenium can now be used in complete dairy and beef cattle rations, according to the Food and Drug Administration. The federal agency announced that the regulation for use of the mineral as a feed additive was changed effective January 26, 1979.

Selenium has been recognized as a toxic element in animal feeds for many years, and only recently has been proved an essential mineral for livestock, says

Gary T. Lane, Extension dairy specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Lane says that selenium deficiency occurs over a wide area of the United States, including Kentucky, adding that "the deficiency is of more practical importance than the toxicity." Deficiencies of the mineral are most likely to occur when cattle are fed forages produced on soils testing high in acidity.

There are restrictions on how selenium may be incorporated into feeds, according to the specialist. For dairy and beef cattle, a premix must provide no more than 90.8 milligrams per ton and must be added at the rate of one pound or more of premix per ton of complete feed.

The restrictions are to assure adequate mixing and distribution of the mineral, according to Lane.

If added to salt-mineral mixtures for beef or dairy cattle, Lane says that the premix must contain no more than 18 grams of added selenium in not less than four pounds of premix.

A major sign of selenium deficiency is "white muscle disease" which usually occurs in young calves, according to Lane. However, cattle of all ages may show unthriftiness, varying from growth depression to a weak condition usually accompanied by diarrhea. Lane adds that fertility in females may be adversely affected by a selenium deficiency.

SELENIUM DEFICIENCY: In research conducted by the Kentucky and Ohio agriculture experiment stations, selenium as an injection or included in the feed substantially reduced the incidence of retained placentas in cows fed control diets deficient in the mineral.

Subclinical selenium deficiency, which reduces animal performance, is difficult to detect, according to Lane. He says the best approach is to have forages tested. If they are deficient, containing less than 0.1 part per million selenium, he advises providing additional selenium in the grain mix.

Professional Marketing Makes Sales Of Timber Much Easier

Selling timber poses several problems for the average landowner. Most landowners have no idea how much timber they have to sell, they do not know how to judge which trees are ready to sell, and they do not know how to get the best market price for their timber.

Help for Calloway County landowners who are considering selling their timber can be obtained from the Professional Foresters of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

Two main reasons are given for having your timber marked:

The first is that after marking, you know exactly how much timber (in board feet) you have to sell. When a Division Forester marks your timber, you receive a report letting you know the number of species and board foot volume of the timber marked. With this information in hand, the landowner may approach timber buyers with greater confidence of receiving a fair market price.

The second is that in marking, the forester chooses only those trees that are mature, damaged, or of low quality. This means that the remaining timber stand will be left in the best shape possible for future growth since only those trees that need to go are removed. This insures the landowner better production from his woodland. For example, trees damaged in a past fire would be marked for removal so the landowner could receive some income from them before they began to rot or die. A properly marked harvest increases your woodland production while you get paid for the marked timber.

How does a landowner know if he has enough mature timber to call for a cutting? Again, the Division of Forestry can be of help to the landowner in answering this question. Before a forester can mark your timber, a "preliminary examination" is run on the woodland. This involves the landowner showing his woodlands to the forester so he can determine if the woodland needs cutting or not. There is no charge for this examination. A small fee is charged for the actual timber marking which is 80 cents per thousand board feet marked and always totals less than three percent of the final selling price of the timber.

In 1978, division foresters marked a quarter million board feet of timber in Calloway County. If you have timber that you think is ready for harvest and you would like help from the Division of Forestry, contact John Perry, Service Forester, Kentucky Division of Forestry, P.O. Box 349, Mayfield, Kentucky 42066, or call the Division Office at 247-3913.

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture

When you don't have an ingredient your recipe calls for, you can sometimes find or figure out a substitute, according to food specialists with the UK College of Agriculture Cooperative Extension Service. For instance, instead of a cup of buttermilk or sour milk, "doctor up" a cup of fresh milk, reconstituted dry milk or evaporated milk by adding a tablespoon of vinegar or lemon juice. Let it stand at least five minutes before using.

Peking Sources Predict Big Offensive In Vietnam War

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Sources in Peking predict a big Chinese offensive in the Vietnam border war in a few days. Japan's Kyodo news service reported, while Hanoi claimed China is sending in more reinforcements after losing 4,000 troops in four Vietnamese counter-attacks.

Kyodo said sources in the Chinese capital told it the goal of the intensified "punitive action" against Vietnam would be to destroy at least one Vietnamese army division and military bases and artillery emplacements near the border.

But British reporters in Peking said Vice Premier Wang Chen told them the Chinese invasion force would not try to advance down the Red River valley toward Hanoi.

Kyodo said Peking Radio reported Chinese troops had engaged Vietnamese army regulars in hand-to-hand fighting near the village of Dong Dang, seven miles from the key northeast town of Lang Son. The broadcast said a Chinese battalion overran five hilltop positions near Dong Dang but gave no casualty figures and did not say when the battle occurred.

Hanoi Radio claimed counterattacking troops killed almost 4,000 Chinese and destroyed 160 tanks in weekend battles. It claimed a total of 16,000 Chinese killed since the invasion began Feb. 17.

There was no way of verifying the claims of either side, but intelligence sources in Bangkok believe the Vietnamese casualty figures are exaggerated.

Hanoi said Vietnamese forces counter-attacked at Tan Lang, in Lai Chau province northwest of Hanoi; at Thanh Thuy, in Ha Tuyen province north of the capital; in the Tong Dang district of Lang Son and along east-west Highway 4, which parallels the border in Cao Bang and Lang Son provinces.

Intelligence specialists in Washington say about 75,000 Chinese troops appear to have driven up to 20 miles into Vietnam in places but the average penetration of the offensive is put at 12-15 miles. At the start of the invasion, U.S. sources said China had about 225,000 men massed on the border.

On the diplomatic front, the U.N. Security Council debated China's invasion of Vietnam and Vietnam's invasion of Cambodia for the third day in New York. Representatives of Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore, the Philippines and Japan joined the Western powers in calling for an end to the fighting between Vietnam and China.

However, the United States and its allies were still unable to draw up a resolution that would not be vetoed by Chinese or by the Soviet Union, Vietnam's ally. The council debate was suspended until Tuesday.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The execution of another official of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's secret police and public floggings for violators of Islamic law were reported today.

The newspaper Andegan reported that Mohammad Hossein Naderi, the secret police's torture expert in the central city of Isfahan, was brought to Tehran and executed by a firing squad Sunday night.

There was no confirmation of the report from aides of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, whose security committee has executed eight generals and a police commander accused of setting a theater fire that killed hundreds in Abadan last year.

Two other police officers were reported shot by firing squad Feb. 19 in Najafabad, central Iran, for killing antishah demonstrators. There have been unconfirmed reports of other executions by vigilante groups.

Execution sentences have been passed by special revolutionary tribunals set up by Khomeini. The ancient tradition of public floggings for violations of Moslem law has been revived by Islamic courts. They have been administering justice under the supervision of local religious leaders and applying Moslem law since Khomeini's revolution was victorious on Feb. 11.

Press reports said a large crowd in the city of Zanzan, 180 miles north of Tehran, looked on Sunday as a thief was given 25 lashes for breaking into a widow's house. A crowd of 5,000 turned out in the eastern city of Kerman when two youths got 30 lashes each for drinking liquor. In Yasooj, two men got 80 lashes each for drinking.

Tehran Radio reported Sunday that Khomeini called on foreign nations for the delivery of former Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiari, indicating that he had escaped abroad.

Bakhtiari, a longtime opponent of the shah who tried unsuccessfully to stem the Khomeini revolution by getting the ruler to agree to a limited monarchy, disappeared after he resigned Feb. 11. He was reported under arrest or under the protective custody of his successor and former political ally, Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan.

Khomeini's aides staged a show of force Sunday to counter leftist guerrilla groups challenging the conservatism of his revolution. Some 2,000 troops of the new National Guard marched through Tehran shouting "Long live Khomeini!"

State Weekend Traffic Crashes Claim Six Lives

By The Associated Press

Weekend traffic accidents on Kentucky highways claimed six lives, pushing the state's toll for the year to 96, 42 more than were killed through the same period last year.

Mary Eleanor Carpenter, 39, of Louisville died early Sunday when the car in which she was riding was struck by another car, police said. The accident occurred on Seventh Street Road in Louisville.

Donnie Nations, 24, of Mount Eden, was killed Saturday night in a crash on Kentucky 31 in Bullitt County, police said. At least two other persons were injured in the crash.

Lisa Rena Creech, 13, of Somerset, was killed Saturday when she was struck by a passing vehicle while walking along U.S. 27 about 2½ miles south of Somerset, officers said.

Imogene Blevins, 52, of Means, Ky., was killed Saturday in a two-car crash on U.S. 460 about a mile west of Frenchburg in Menifee County.

Two Boyle County brothers were killed early Saturday in a fiery crash on Kentucky 33, five miles north of Danville. Police said Paul J. Frey, 24, and Stephen J. Frey, 28, were killed when their car left the fog-covered road, apparently hit a rock, overturned and burst into flames.

In a traffic accident not included in the Kentucky weekend count, a 26-year-old Scottsville, Ky., woman was killed and her husband was injured Saturday night at Hendersonville, Tenn.

Authorities said Marlene Shipley was dead at the scene. Two other persons were taken to a Gallatin, Tenn., hospital. The accident occurred on U.S. 31-E.

'M,' German Classic, To Be Shown Tuesday At MSU

"M," the 1930 German classic directed by Fritz Lang and starring Peter Lorre, will be shown at Murray State University on Tuesday, Feb. 27, as the fifth program of the International Film Festival.

Two showings of the 99-minute film are scheduled in the auditorium of the Student Center — the first at 2:30 p.m. and the second at 7 p.m. The afternoon program will be a showing of the film only, while the evening program will also include an introduction and a panel discussion at the film's conclusion.

The International Film Festival consists of a series of eight films from eight different countries to be presented at no charge during 1978-79 as a community service. Each film deals with important social, political, and/or family issues.

The Festival is funded in part by a grant awarded by the Kentucky Humanities Council to two Murray State faculty members — Helen Roulston, assistant professor of English, and Dr. William Fletcher, assistant professor of foreign languages.

Dr. Milton Grimes, assistant professor of German, will give a brief introduction to the Tuesday evening film and moderate the panel discussion. Other panelists will be Dr. Kenneth Wolf, associate professor of history, and Dr. Kent Forrester, associate professor of English.

McBrayer Claims To Be Own Man, Not Tied To Gov. Carroll

An AP News Analysis By SY RAMSEY Associated Press Writer FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Slowly but surely, Terry McBrayer claims, the voters of Kentucky are perceiving him as his own man, not tied to the administration of Gov. Julian Carroll.

"As I get out on the stump, people are beginning to look more at me as a candidate," the Democratic contestant for governor said in an interview.

"There are fewer and fewer questions in which I'm supposed to defend or take credit for what this administration has or hasn't done."

Anti-administration rivals, of course, would laugh openly at McBrayer's professed independence. They keep insisting that the money, the guidance and the spirit of McBrayer emanates from Carroll.

In fact, state Auditor George Atkins, in his latest broad blast at McBrayer, used the phrase "Carroll-McBrayer" candidacy.

McBrayer has been an insider in the Carroll administration as well as a former official, and one of his biggest problems has been how to shed the public link with Carroll — without at the same time alienating the governor who presumably wants him as successor.

On at least three major issues, McBrayer has openly split with Carroll or gone his own definite way.

The candidate has called for a ban on use of state airplanes by the governor or lieutenant governor for out-of-state vacations.

Carroll has been criticized widely for his implied attitude that the state craft are for a governor's use without any strings attached, and that all assertions to the contrary are politically-motivated.

McBrayer has joined a lawsuit asking elimination of the fuel adjustment clause in electric rates, the charge that automatically is imposed by utilities to compensate for increased costs of coal.

The governor has not exactly been a crusader on the subject. He stood by silently during the past special legislative session as such a proposal fell by the wayside.

McBrayer has called for increased powers for the next lieutenant governor, specifically restoring the officeholder as chairman of the Legislative Research

Mail Service To Iran Suspended

Suspension of civilian mail service to Iran has been extended to cover surface mail, the U. S. Postal Service has announced. The effect is to eliminate all civilian mail service between Iran and the United States.

Airmail service to Iran was suspended January 9, 1979. Postal officials said the latest action was taken because of the lack of reliable air and surface transportation either in or out of that country.

The suspension means no U. S. post office will accept civil mail bound for Iran until further notice. Mail currently in the postal system destined for Iran will be returned to sender. Postage will be refunded for mail returned because of the suspension of service.

Commission.

Carroll, as lieutenant governor in 1974, sponsored legislation to strip the next officeholder of that power.

Those are some important public differences between McBrayer and Carroll, and the Democratic candidate said his opponents now seem to be running against the administration — "they never argue with me and I think that's to my advantage."

McBrayer believes the fuel adjustment matter "is the one real issue I've got — it's mine and it's major."

MSU Radio Auction To Be Held Tonight, 7 p.m.

By Karen Miller

Going once, going twice and sold to the highest bidder!

That's what you will hear tonight at 7 p.m. when the Murray State University chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, National Honorary Broadcasting Society hosts their annual television auction.

Months of planning and long hours of hard work will make this one of the best auctions yet. Contributions of Murray merchants are better than ever.

Items to go on the auction block range from home box office hook-ups, large plants, jumper cables, walls clocks and clothing to steak dinners. Bids will be taken by telephone and then announced by the auctioneers to keep the items moving.

The auction will continue until every item is sold. "If necessary, we will stay until the wee hours of the morning," said auction coordinators, Phil Merrell and Krit Stubblefield. "It has been a lot of hard work but the fun we will have tonight makes it all worth while."

In addition to Alpha Epsilon

He said the public response to the lawsuit on the issue has been "tremendous."

Meantime, Carroll stirs the political waters around McBrayer with statements that contradict previous statements, such as last week's turnabout in which the governor indicated he may run for office again instead of retiring.

"Sometimes you can't determine from one day to the next what the governor will do," McBrayer commented, adding that, of course, he was not consulted in advance.

Rho members, auction expertise will be provided by prominent Murray citizens.

Entertainment during the auction includes a taped performance of the Murray High Tiger Band and come interludes with local personalities.

For an evening full of fun, entertainment and good bargains, tune to the Alpha Epsilon Rho TV auction on MSU Channel 11. To call in your bids, dial 762-4661, 762 4662 or 762-4359.

Urban Problems To Be Discussed

The "Urban Problems" program by the League of Women Voters of Murray and Calloway County will be held tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. at the city hall, according to Sue Vandegrift of the League.

Steve Zea, city planner, and Dr. A. H. Kopperud will be special guests and will discuss the four-laning of Main Street at the special meeting tonight.

The public is invited to attend, a league spokesman said.
